

WORK FROM HOME REQUEST

Dear [Manager's Name],

I'd like to formally request to work from home today as I'll be staying up to support England in their 4:00am World Cup match.

Rather than attempting the commute on very little sleep, I believe I'll be far more productive (and considerably safer around the coffee machine) working remotely.

I'll be online, available, and fully committed to getting everything done. The only thing running on limited energy will be me.

Thank you for your understanding during this matter of national importance.

Kind regards,
[Your Name]
